

Valid Login ID using Servlet

We are creating 4 link

1.index

It will show the username and password option where user needs to fill the right credentials.

2.Dashboard

In this Servlet file initialize two string username and password. Using if condition to check if the username n password is correct or not if both are correct it will take to success servlet where the message will display with welcome.

3.Success

If username is password is correct this servlet show message with welcome

4.Logout

After opening success servlet it will show logout option after clicking it it will directly go back to the index page.